Customer Reviews

We referred to this book time and time again and found accurate, precise information regarding Lake Michigan and Superior paddle trips. Guided us to many accesible sites that represents the true nature of both lakes, from sandy beaches to rocky shores. An accurate guidance of what skill level should attempt each trip. Great book to use as a guide to map a vacation. Also good information regarding restuarants and camping spots.

Being an experienced sea kayaker I often review books to evaluate the competence of the authors. This book is written by kayakers who really love the sport and want to share it but who have chosen not to guide new kayakers' every stroke. So many guide books do the entire trip for you leaving you with little to learn about your personal skill and no adventure whatsoever. They give you the basics and then leave it to you to discover yourself and adventure. Great guidebook!

Good directions to put-ins and landmarks visible on the water

I feel the book could of been more technical needs a update. The maps are sort of a outlines of where you need to be. Otherwise, the book was pretty through with information. A decent guide for the experienced kayaker.

Good book to give you some ideas on where you might want to make a trip. Some are pretty general and you would have to do some local research and get maps.Chris WodkeAuthor: Running for My Life-Winning for CMT

This was an excellent resource several years ago and I would have rated it at 5 stars. But, now, it is quickly becoming outdated. I would still recommend it as a basic informational source on the area attractions, but advise anyone planning a trip on these lakes to get some current advice, information and maps from the internet and official sources.

This book is fine for someone who wants leads on where to kayak. However, it does not deal in much depth with any of the sights and territory covered. The maps are rudimentary.

Great book on upper michigan kayaking. This book tells you where to go and where to rent sea kayaks. It helped us out with our trip to the national seashore.
